
Abrams Fensterman Ranked #1 Health Care Law Firm on Long Island

In its February 25th issue, the Long Island Business News ranked Abrams Fensterman, LLP #1 out of 35 firms on Long Island providing legal services in the field of health care.

“Since Abrams Fensterman’s formation 11 years ago, we have continuously focused our attention on identifying highly accomplished health care attorneys in the community and encouraging them to join with us in building a leading health care law firm—not just on Long Island, but throughout New York State. The recent survey results published by the Long Island Business News are testament to those tireless efforts. We are tremendously proud and flattered that so many clients in the health care field have come to rely upon our law firm for their legal needs and in doing so, enabled us to grow at such a rapid pace.”
