

Carolyn Reinach Wolf Discusses Michigan School Shooter Case on NBC News

FEATURED ATTORNEY

Carolyn Reinach Wolf

Executive Partner, Emeritus

On March 4, 2024, Carolyn Reinach Wolf was interviewed on NBC News about the Michigan School shooter case. Discussing the legal ramifications after the rare conviction of the school shooter's mother, now his father facing trial on four counts of involuntary manslaughter following the tragic 2021 shooting at Oxford High School.

"Nobody is saying you can't own a gun, but the issue is gun safety," said Wolf, Executive Partner in the law firm of Abrams Fensterman, LLP and Director of the Firm's Mental Health Law practice. Wolf is a preeminent figure in the area of Mental Health Law and frequently consults on the complexities surrounding parental responsibility and mental health in such cases.

The story goes on to emphasize the importance of gun safety alongside parental awareness of their child's behavior. Wolf notes that many mass shooting cases have exhibited warning signs, underlining the significance of proactive measures. She emphasizes the importance of gun safety alongside parental awareness of their child's behavior.

Click here to read the full article on NBC News

NBC NEWS